The procedure basically involves liquefying the fat in localized pockets of excess fat. It is far better than the conventional liposuction procedure. Along with most prescriptions, an optometrist will provide advice on cleaning, wear time and maintenance. The reason is because some cleansers are to be used exclusively with certain types of contact lenses, which makes it very important that the wearer read the labeling on any solution prior to applying it to hisher contact lenses. One thing that all solutions have in common is that their container should remain closed while not being used. A number of individuals may be sensitive to certain ingredients, which are sometimes included in cleansers used on contact lenses. If an individual suspects that they must have any such sensitivity, they should inform their doctor in order to avoid possible complications.
